

MARK LORDAN

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

I'm an enthusiastic software developer, and I love troubleshooting and developing solutions for employers and myself. I have a strong track record of designing and developing applications and websites to meet project and client requirements. Being a developer requires constant self-improvement, which I have strived for over the years with extra learning topics and collaborating with others.

EXPERIENCE

Present

2nd, 3rd and 4th Year College Projects

Collaborative and Individual

Developer and lead designer for both group projects, a hotel management system written in Java, and a cloud-based graphical restaurant reservation app for Android. Final year project is a cross-platform social event application.

September 2015 (2 weeks)

Garda Travel Club

I developed a useful application using Java to analyse Excel lists from the club database. This application was needed for years by the club, and I completed it in less than a week. The club saved well over €1500 based on their current software
